S. S. Kresge Attends Celebration Fete

The Victory Dinner held Thursday night in Ludwig Center celebrated the end of Olivet's 10 year development program. Since the fall of 1957 five major buildings have been completed at a cost of over four million dollars. They are Nesbitt, Hills and Chalfant Halls, Ludwig Center and Reed Hall of Science.

Dr. Hugh C. Benner, General Superintendent of the Church of the Nazarene, brought greetings from the general church. Dr. Harold Reed, Olivet College president, gave a salute to all who had a part in the development program. Brief speeches followed by representatives of the Board of Trustees, the President's Club, the $1,000 Fellowship and Development Committee, the alumni, faculty and Staff and student council.

Olivet was especially honored to have Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Kresge on the campus for the Victory Dinner. Kresge is the president of the S. S. Kresge Company and chairman of the Kresge Foundation. Other distinguished guests included Dr. Reed's three brothers, Edwin, George and Wesley, and son, Haldor.

Approximately 450, including those who received the honorary degrees today, attended the dinner.

In Retrospect —

Founder's Day has traditionally been set aside as a day for retrospect of the year's achievement and growth at Olivet.

It is no different with today's celebration. But, the meaning of Founder's Day is deeper than just a day set aside for celebration . . . a day to look back.

The first official Founder's Day was held on the last day of September, 1957. That year marked the beginning of Olivet's 10 year $4,500,000 building project. It was also Olivet's 50th anniversary. Last night's Victory Dinner and today's dedication of the Reed Hall of Science bring to a close the 10 year project.

However, Founder's Day shall continue.

THE DAY was the idea of college president Dr. Harold W. Reed, who marked the occasion as a time to pay tribute to Mary Nesbitt, Olivet's first teacher.

Orlan Nesbitt, Mary's brother, after hearing a sermon in 1900 on the importance of education, worked with his sister to set up a Christian interdenominational grade school in Georgetown, Ill. Doors to the grade school were opened on the last day of September, 1907.

Miss Nesbitt was the first and only teacher in that initial year. A year later a high school was added and the site moved to what is now Olivet, Ill., two miles south of Georgetown. The school was named after Mt. Olivet, where the transfiguration of Jesus took place. Later the community, Olivet, was named after the school.

In 1909, the school became a college and was first called Illinois Holiness University. Dr. A. M. Hills, after whom Hills Hall is named, was the first president.

IN 1912, Nazarene laymen invested in the college, which had become burdened with expansion problems and expenses. The Nazarene Church relieved this problem and the college name was once more changed. This time the school name was changed to one that has stayed with it ever since—Olivet Nazarene College.

When the Nesbitts established the school, they probably never realized its potential. Yet, ONC today is deeply grateful to the devotion of those two people.

Mary Nesbitt taught in 1907 for what was reported to be $167. Later, it was discovered that she had not received anything for that first year.

On the first Founder's Day, Miss Nesbitt was the special guest of honor. It was on that occasion that Dr. Reed presented Miss Nesbitt with a check for $167, but Miss Nesbitt handed the check back to Dr. Reed as the first donation on the 10 year building program.

NESBITT HALL was named after this lady.

"Miss Nesbitt displayed drive, enthusiasm and loyalty to the church. This loyalty is still present in our Christian youth today," notes President Reed.

Thus Founder's Day is more than just a day set aside. It's a day that each of us, as students, faculty, administration, staff or visitor, can, through the example shown by Miss Nesbitt, rededicate our lives to God, His purpose and His Church with the same sacrifice, drive and loyalty.

Dr. Lewis To Speak To Married Students

The Associated Married Students will sponsor its first activity Saturday at the Kankakee River State Park.

Various activities are planned for the get-acquainted day. Softball, volleyball, badminton, and croquet will be featured, followed by a "potluck" dinner at 6 p.m.

Highlighting the day's festivities will be an evening address by Dr. V. H. Lewis, evangelist for Olivet's fall revival, which begins Sunday.

Soft drinks will be furnished free of charge as well as babysitters for burdened mothers.

PASTOR'S COMMENT

How We Feel Here Can Make Difference

By DR. FORREST NASH
(College Church Pastor)

"I almost did not come to Olivet," said a new student to me on one occasion." He related that a former student whom he knew had many discouraging things to say about the college, the faculty and student life. Then the new student went on to say this, "Since my coming to Olivet, I have met some of the most wonderful Christian young people I have ever known. I admire the faculty and I appreciate all I have seen about Olivet Nazarene College."

What made the difference in these points of view? The situation? No, it was the person within the situation. All of us know that everything is not ideal. No earthly situation is. But shining through the working framework here at ONC are Christian ideals, holy purposes, prayerful lives, sacrificial dedication to holiness and education with opportunities for spiritual growth and mental development. The best is here. Will you see it and align your life with it, or will you choose to be the mote-hunter, blinding yourself to the high and holy, thus paralyzing your life in failure. The alternative is always before us. It is a choice with crucial consequences.

Religious Reflections

By RICHARD UNGERBUEHLER

The Church of Jesus Christ has come a long way since the days of our Lord. It has passed through the Dark Ages, experienced revival in the days of the Reformation and has entered into the present Atomic Age. Yet as rockets soar through the air in quest of answers to unknown questions, a cloud has settled down upon the Church and slowly people are regressing into a spiritual age of darkness. People's minds have become smudgy. Their thoughts are directed toward ideas of questionable integrity. Modesty is fading, compassion is weak. Christians are settling into the age-old pattern of conformity, compromising with the world to approach them at their level.

This pattern of spiritual weakness has threatened since the days of the early church fathers. Heras expressed this idea when he said, "As the trees are all alike in winter, when they have cast their leaves, and it is not evident which ones are dead and which ones are full of vital energy, so in this world neither the righteous nor the unrighteous are recognized, but all appear alike."

Let's not become stagnant! Stand up and be counted among the pure in heart.

SPEAKING WITH compassion I urge each of us to carefully search our lives.

During this fall revival we must become as a budding sapling for Christ instead of an aging tree.

Primary Is Proposed For Student Elections

By DENNIS KENT

Under the new procedures for Freshman Class elections, one who aspires to hold office is required to secure a nominating petition from the office of the Associated Students. It is necessary to obtain the signatures of at least 50 members of the class to become a candidate.

These new procedures received their first test with the elections of the Class of 1970 last week. A product of close cooperation between the Administration and the Student Government, the new methods have been empirically shown to represent a substantial improvement over the traditional election procedures. The experience of these elections has also pointed toward an area where further reform in the election machinery is desirable.

Previous to this year, Freshmen were not allowed to make nominations for Class President, but instead, the Student Body President in consultation with the Administration presented nominees to the Freshmen. The other officers were nominated from the floor in a mass meeting of the Freshman Class.

While undoubtedly many highly qualified Presidents were elected under the old method, the new, more democratic method should prove to be an even more efficient way of selecting able leadership. A mass meeting is at best characterized by capriciousness; and a system in which the only method of nomination is nomination from the floor is bound to be less effective than a more orderly system. The new methods, then, have these advantages over the old.

THIS WRITER was given the honor of and delegated the responsibility for presiding over this year's Freshman elections. This gave him the opportunity to receive many of the objections to and criticisms of the new system, but it did not give him the power to correct the inadequacies of which he was aware and which were pointed out to him. The procedures had been outlined for the presiding officer and it was impossible to change them on the spur of the moment.

Nonetheless, the major criticism of the election procedures is a valid one and it points toward a necessary reform. Many individuals pointed out to this writer that they should not be denied a secret ballot. Never before has a large number objected to the method of voting by rising which has been traditional in class elections. But then, neither has Olivet had many Freshmen classes with, as Student Body President Duane Clinker put it, so much "spunk" as the present one.

Actually, the relative merits and demerits of the secret ballot and the rising are apparent; the secret ballot is much to be preferred.

The problem is one of developing a workable system in which the secret ballot is used. Frequently, there are in class elections enough popular candidates that it is impossible to elect on the first, second, third, or even subsequent ballots.

CLEARLY, the mere imposition of the secret ballot would result in a preposterously time consuming method. Class elections have been known to last three hours, even the recent Freshman elections took nearly one and a half hours, but if a secret ballot were used balloting could easily be drawn out over a period of days.

Recognizing the need for a workable new system of balloting, this writer would propose the following plan for consideration and possible adoption by each of the classes:

Each student desiring an elective office in his class should circulate nominating petitions for that office, and upon presenting a petition upon which are the signatures of at least ten per cent of his class his name should be placed on a primary election ballot. The names of the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes in the primary election should then be placed on the general election ballot along with the names of the candidates in the Associated Students elections.

Working for the adoption of such a plan is but one way in which students can work for more responsible Student Government, and at least at the present that goal does not appear to be a totally unworthy one.

Olivet Radio Station Opening Draws Near

By TOM TUCKER

"You're listening to WONC, 88.3 on your dial," is a dream come true.

A radio station on Olivet's campus? Why not?

In the early months of 1965 Professor Ray Moore was asked about the possibility of having an ONC radio station.

A class for radio enthusiasts was formed to brief students in the art of running a radio station. The latter part of last school year the class began to build a radio studio on the second floor of Ludwig Center and in August received a construction permit from the Federal Communication Commission in Washington, D.C., to install a sending tower.

The program format will vary on the educational FM station. Music will include selections of both religious and secular nature. From time to time there will be interviews and local entertainment.

Air time will be 4 to 11 p.m. on weekdays. The Sunday morning College Church service is also on the agenda. If enough students show enough interest, all basketball games, both home and away, will also be aired.

The WONC studios will soon be open for student inspection.

Mary Sue Jones Notes Secretarial Duties

Miss Mary Sue Jones, this year's secretary of the Associated Students, recently talked to reporter Richard Nichols about her duties as secretary. She is a Senior, majoring in education.

Mr. Nichols: What special abilities do you bring to the office of the secretary of the Associated Students?

Mary Sue: When I was in high school, I took two years of shorthand and typing. We had a semester of office practice which included the methods of filing, advanced shorthand and the routine of an office. I have done secretarial work for some of the professors here at school. I enjoy this type of work very much. In fact, I've considered going into teaching business subjects instead of the major I did choose.

Mr. Nichols: Do you think this is an office where innovations can be brought or do you think you'll be following the policy of the old secretaries? For instance, is there anything you can do that the secretaries in the preceding years have not done?

Mary Sue: I think the job of secretary is stereotyped. When one thinks of a secretary, one thinks of a typewriter, a shorthand pad, filing and the like. But, I also feel my job is to make the office of the Associated Students a place where the student body is welcome to visit and where they feel free to come and talk. They should feel this office belongs to them as much as it belongs to the officers. In addition to my routine duties I think an important responsibility is public relations.

Mr. Nichols: What have you noticed which indicates a profitable year for the Associated Students?

Mary Sue: I think the most important indication was at the Student - Administration workshop this past week. I was encouraged very much. Many issues were brought out and thoroughly discussed. Also, I am elated to observe the enthusiasm of the freshmen, their interest in student government, the way they applied for petitions to run for office. I think these are encouraging signs that they will take an active part in the government this year.

Mr. Nichols: Have you experienced any difficulty with Duane Clinker, the Associated Student Body President?

Mary Sue: No, I haven't. He's easy to work with; usually giving clear directions.

Freshmen, Upperclass Gridders Clash Saturday

By BOB LIGHTLE

Olivet opens its 1966 football season at 10 a.m. Saturday when the upperclassmen clash with the freshmen on the ONC gridiron.

Both teams have shown much spirit and enthusiasm. They have been practicing hard for Saturday's game.

Coaching the freshman team are Dee Clay and John Goodin. Clay and Goodin have played football in high school and at Olivet. Both are physical education majors.

The following is the freshman first-string lineup: Starting at the ends are Bill Hunter and Larry Tague; tackles Jay Click and Darrel O'Neil; guards Ted Bryant and Claire MacMillan, and center Mike Filbin.

The running backs for the freshman team are: Wayne Underwood, Chuck Conners and Harry Palmer. Playing at the flanker position is Dave Fightmaster. Helping on defense are Chip Cook, Keith Ross, Augie Fiore and Al MacMillan.

A player who should strengthen both the freshman offense and defense is Chuck Conners.

Chuck plays defensive end and offensive fullback. Because of his size (237 lbs.) he should be hard to stop. He played first-string fullback his freshman year at Oklahoma before he was injured. A lot of the players will have to play both offense and defense because of the lack of depth.

Lightle

The freshman offense will run the slot-T and will also incorporate the I formation with flankers.

THE COACHES for the upperclassmen are Bob Eisenhower and Mike Williams. Both have a lot of football experience and are capable of teaching the game.

The upperclassmen starting lineup is as follows: ends John Brilhart and Stuart Leach; tackles Larry Blight and Denny Burgraff; guards Ron Schwada and Ron Craig, and center Bob Bouton.

The backfield will be headed by Harry Vannest at quarterback, Dave Kaylor at halfback, Bob Lightle at fullback and Jack Heil at the other halfback spot.

Expected to be defensive standouts for the upperclassmen are: Jack Provencal, Duwane Hawkins, Ed Filbin, Bruce Lehnert, Pat Devine and Jim Owens.

The upperclassmen will be running out of a straight-T formation. They will run a lot of power plays attempting to take advantage of their size.

THE COACHES for both sides are optimistic. Coach Eisenhower noted, "The upperclassmen have the experience and are hitting hard in practice."

Freshman Coach Clay warns, "My boys are fired up and really want to play ball, so the upperclassmen had better be ready."

The two teams are as optimistic as their coaches, so Saturday's battle has the makings of a good game.

The game will be played at 10 a.m. Saturday on the ONC field. Programs will be printed. Students are urged to attend this opener and root for their class.

Game schedule:

Oct. 1—10 a.m.—ONC field.

Oct. 8—10 a.m.—ONC field.

Oct. 15—10 a.m.—ONC field.

Williams "Blows Off Steam;" Firemen Called

By LYLE WINLAND

One hundred and fifty girls stood outside last Monday morning in their housecoats, curlers, and peds watched in good humor while their dorm, Williams Hall, "blew off steam."

A defective gasket in one of the steam pipes of the heating system gave way about 7:25 a.m. and sent clouds of steam billowing from the heating room to the ground floor and to the outside through a vent window.

Mrs. Leo Slagg, Williams' dorm mother, said some of the girls spotted the "smoke" and pulled the fire alarm at which time she immediately cleared the building.

The Bourbonnais Volunteer Fire Department arrived shortly after the alarm, investigated, resolved the fog to be steam and left within minutes after detecting its source.

Intercollegiate Basketball Practice Opens Monday; Expect 45 Prospects

By JERRY HERTENSTEIN

Intercollegiate basketball is no longer around the corner. It's here! The first day of practice begins Monday at 3:30 p.m. in Birchard Gymnasium.

Olivet Athletic Director C. W. (Butch) Ward expects 45 prospects for the first go.

"The first three days of practice will be spent in agility drills. We will also test the candidates for speed, shooting ability, etc.," said Ward, who is anxiously awaiting the season's opening tip-off Nov. 12 against Bethany in the homecoming game at Kankakee East Junior High School gymnasium.

Ward says he plans to make cuts twice during the first week of practice, reducing the number still available to 24. After two weeks of drills Ward hopes to decide on his final 12 varsity and final 12 junior varsity players.

"Within two or three weeks we should start working on our offensive and defensive patterns," observes the athletic director.

Prospects will practice every day from 3:30 till 5:30 p.m. six days a week until the season begins. Then practices will be reduced to five days a week.

THE DATE for the second game, to be played at Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Okla., has been changed from Nov. 18 to 26. Tipoff time will be 3 p.m. It will be Bethany's homecoming.

Olivet will play its home games at 8 p.m. with junior varsity contests starting at 6 p.m. The only exception is the homecoming game when the "O" Club and Alumni will clash at 6:30 p.m. with the varsity tilt at 8 p.m.

C. W. (BUTCH) WARD
Busy Weeks Ahead

John Crandall will assist Ward with the varsity team while Larry Watson will handle the junior varsity.

Beginning Monday and until the end of the season, the gymnasium will be closed from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. to all those not directly related with intercollegiate sports.

Four baskets have been erected on the blacktop just east of Birchard and will be available to any who would like to use them.

Equipment may be checked out in the gymnasium lobby.

The swimming pool will remain open from 3:30 to 5:30, but all those wishing to swim at that time are asked to enter the gymnasium through the east door.

The season schedule:

(All varsity games begin at 8 p.m. unless otherwise noted).

Nov. 12—Bethany (homecoming), 26—at Bethany (Bethany homecoming), 3 p.m.

Dec. 3—Spring Arbor, 10—Bethel.

Jan. 7—Greenville, 14—Huntington, 20—Oakland.

Feb. 4—at Bethel, 11—at Oakland, 25—at Greenville.
